
Filipino martial Arts?

Are there any clan members here that actively participate in filipino martial arts or any martial arts at all?

I know of one clan member but it would be interesting if there are more of us.

hello...

I myself do know a little bit of Arnis. I remember when I was little my grandfather teach me some basic skills and I believe that he is one of the seniors of doce pares... he got alot of pictures back then but sad to say I can't post it here cuz the pictures are in pardo...

But after he teach me some basic skills, then a couple of years passed then I began High school I went to tyke abella to learn more but it was not a successful training.... so I decided myself just to remind what my grandfather taught me. but my skills are not good enough to compete or to show someone who like arnis...

Thanks for responding kolay! Do you train/Live in Cebu? I bet if you keep train more you can get better, but i think your good already unless you compare yourself to Arnisadors there in P.I.

Is there anyone else out there that takes any martial art at all, other than Filipino Martial Arts?
